CLEANING PRODUCT FOCUS

Recent advances in floor finish formulation technology have produced significant advantages for facility managers in reducing product and labor costs while offering maximum gloss for many types of floor surfaces.

Utilizing advanced macro-polymer size formulations, these newest finishes fill in floor substrates faster and with exceptional leveling characteristics.

The result...it takes fewer coats of finish to achieve maximum gloss (sometimes as few as 3 coats!) At the same time, these products exhibit superior resistance to re-soiling and scratching. This means that floors, even heavy traffic areas, will keep their showcase appearance longer, thereby extending buffing and scrub/re-coat cycles.

Of course, proper maintenance procedures and the use of adequate matting are essential to long term floor care success. But these new technologies give facilities a real advantage in the fight against rising maintenance costs!
